Analysis

ties of this year," Elias said. "We have a shot at a wild card right now. But it is not a probability that we're going to win a wild card."

LOSER: Chicago White Sox

This is the most underachieving team in baseball, sitting in third place in the AL Central.

They picked up Diekman from the Boston Red Sox, couldn't stomach the prices for starting pitchers or sluggers on the market, and stopped dealing.

"We're disappointed that we weren't able to do more to try to improve this club," GM Rick Hahn said. "Anyone out there feeling a level of frustration and disappointment, I'm right there with you."

Just imagine the uproar in Chicago if they don't make the playoffs.

"We've lost a little bit of our swagger," Hahn said. "I'd like to see that come back."

LOSER: Chicago Cubs

Remember that emotional scene when the Cubs gave All-Star catcher Willson Contreras a standing ovation, with Contreras crying in the arms of teammate Ian Happ, thanking the Cubs for all the memories?

Well, it turned out to be nothing more than a dress rehearsal.

Contreras is back. So is Happ.

The only players to leave were relievers David Robertson to the Phillies and Mychal Givens to the Mets. That was it.

Cubs President Jed Hoyer put a high price tag on Contreras and Happ, and when no one blinked, Hoyer decided to simply keep them. Happ still is under club control for another year, but Contreras is a free agent and won't be returning.

So all they get back for Contreras, the best position player on the market not named Juan Soto, is a draft pick when they make him a qualifying offer.

Twins outfielder Byron Buxton was a first-time All-Star in 2022.

ORLANDO RAMIREZ/USA TODAY SPORTS

"We were willing to listen if someone gave us a piece that could really help our future," Hoyer said. "We never crossed that threshold. Willson is a really valuable player. He's been a great Cub for six years now and we never got to that place where we felt comfortable making a deal."

LOSER: San Francisco Giants

The Giants are 37-44 since the start of May, and it looked like they were going to start a fire sale with the trade of power hitter Darin Ruff to the Mets, and then dumping injured catcher Curt Casalli to the Mariners, injured reliever Trevor Rosenthal to the Brewers and injured starter Matt Boyd to the Mariners. And stopped.

They listened to offers for All-Star starter Carlos Rodon and All-Star outfielder Joc Pederson but never budged.

They remain in no-man's land. They're not in the race, not out of the race, and just hangin' around, 4 ½ games out of a wild-card berth.

"We're always kind of juggling the present and the future," team President Farhan Zaidi said. "There's a lot of motivation to finish the year strong. And if we do, we have a chance to be a dangerous team. ...

"I don't see it as mixed message. We think we can compete with the guys we have so we think we're very much in the race."

LOSER: Milwaukee Brewers

You know it's a bad sign when the Brewers issue a lengthy statement on their social media account trying to calm their fan base on why they traded four-time All-Star closer Hader.

"Today's trade is about doing everything we can as an organization to continue our mission and our goal of giving our team as many bites at the apple as we possibly can," Brewers president of baseball operations David Stearns said.

"To sustain competitiveness and to avoid some of the down cycles that we've seen throughout baseball in the not-too-distant past. As we look around the industry, teams that have been able to sustain consistent competitiveness, get into the playoffs, compete for the playoffs every single year – these are teams that at times have to make very difficult decisions."

The Brewers have All-Star setup man Devin Williams to replace Hader as the closer. He has gone 30 appearances without giving up a run, yielding a .115 batting average with 47 strikeouts in 28 ⅓ innings.

Yet he made it clear to reporters that Hader should still be around.

Surprised by the trade?

"You could say that," Williams said. "Lots of things that don't really make sense, you know. I don't know."

"I want to win. That's the biggest thing to me. I don't really have much to say about it."

Sorry, getting late-inning reliever Trevor Rogers from San Diego, Matt Bush from the Texas Rangers and Trevor Rosenthal from the Giants hardly soothed his feelings.

LOSER: Boston Red Sox

You try to figure these guys out.

Are they in? Are they out? What in the world are they doing?

They traded catcher Christian Vazquez along with veteran reliever Diekman, but then turned around and acquired outfielder Tommy Pham from the Reds, spending $4.1 million on his salary and player option.

Pham, who played for Red Sox GM Chaim Bloom, seemed like the natural replacement for J.D. Martinez. Only Martinez didn't go anywhere after trade talks with the Dodgers died.

Starter Nate Eovaldi, who would have been a great trade chip to land more prospects, stayed put.

And when Eric Hosmer vetoed his trade to the Nationals, the Red Sox stepped in and grabbed him, with the Padres paying the remainder of his $44 million owed the next three years.

"When you get into a deadline period," Bloom said, "you never know exactly what it will bring. ... Simply put, we do think we have a chance to make a run."

"When we have a shot, even when it's not the shot we anticipated in April, we should take it."

You're not the only one confused after hearing that.

Playoff rankings: Padres face a steep climb in NL

Gabe Lacques

USA TODAY

They've opened up the Major League Baseball playoffs to 12 teams, yet it may be harder than ever to navigate.

A handful of teams found themselves well-equipped to attack October after major trade-deadline acquisitions. But their paths to glory may be blocked.

Did your team win baseball's trade deadline, or at least try? If so, congrats. It also won't mean much when the playoffs arrive and Commissioner Rob Manfred's bracket shootout becomes reality.

With that, in the wake of Tuesday's trade deadline, we take a look at the top eight clubs poised to win it all, a ranking based as much on path as it is talent:

1. Astros

You gotta get there to win it and nobody does that better than the Astros, who have reached five straight American League championship series and last year came two wins shy of a World Series title. This time, they'll have ace Justin Verlander in tow, and it's hard to argue anyone in the AL is throwing the ball better than the 39-year-old with a majors-best 1.81 ERA. They can stack the now playoff-hardened Framber Valdez, Luis Garcia and Jose Urquidy behind him – all after coasting to a division title and first-round bye.

2. Dodgers

They're merely 22-5 since June 1 go-

The Astros' Justin Verlander is in Cy Young form with an MLB-best 1.81 ERA. THOMAS SHEA/USA TODAY SPORTS

ing into Wednesday, administering knockout blows to opposing pitchers before many fans have taken their seats. A fearsome 1-2-3 in any combo – pull Mookie Betts, Freddie Freeman and Trea Turner's names out of a hat and go from there – is backed up by suddenly fearsome cleanup hitter Will Smith, who has a .821 OPS and a .906 mark in his last 35 games. The pitching is something of an adventure but the tonnage of arms will clear a path to the World Series, one way or another.

3. Yankees

Not sold on Frankie Montas as the man to slay their longtime tormentors in Houston, but New York will coast to the AL East title and hold a significant advantage over their wild-card survivor. We're left to trust they know something about Jordan Montgomery that we don't, but his trade does make you wonder if they're again too smart by half.

4. Blue Jays

Bold pick here, but it's largely based on a 1-2 punch of Alek Manoah and Kevin Gausman that could make for a painless trip through the wild-card round, particularly if the Jays hold on for the right to host the best-of-three at Rogers Centre. A streaky team that will be volatile but fun in October.

5. Mets

Jacob de Grom is back, perhaps just in time for a natural ramp-up to join Max Scherzer as the problematic pitching duo Steve Cohen envisioned when he paid Scherzer $43.3 million to pair with de Grom. Stubbornly, the Mets haven't yielded the NL East lead to Atlanta since April 12, in part because they are so well put together in every facet. Envisioning a long-awaited Queens star turn for shortstop Francisco Lindor.

6. Braves

They're way low here, and feel free to bump them up to No. 3 if you believe they'll win the NL East. At this point, we're not going to doubt whether Austin

Riley can carry the offense through a hot summer and challenging autumn, but he will need help. Ronald Acuna Jr., whose extra-base hit percentage has dropped from 12% to 6%, would greatly aid the cause should he regain his MVP-quality form.

7. Mariners

They made arguably the best trade-deadline pickup – and paid a decent price for it – in adding Luis Castillo to front the rotation. But questions dog the club, most notably if rookies Logan Gilbert and Julio Rodriguez stay healthy and avoid hitting the figurative wall and whether high-priced lefty Robbie Ray will resemble the shutdown guy they paid for and not the inconsistent one with a 4.11 ERA. Too many potholes to get through three series.

8. Padres

Juan Soto might be the greatest deadline pickup in history – or at least since the invention of MLB Trade Rumors. But the NL is a doggone snake pit and the Padres, trailing the Dodgers by 11 ½ games, aren't winning the division. Those hitters? They face a steep mountain with Scherzer and de Grom, Max Fried and Kyle Wright, Clayton Kershaw and the Dodgers machine all plotting against them. Those pitchers? Yu Darvish and Joe Musgrove are a nice combo, but running a table of Braves-Mets-Dodgers, say, will expose the staff's overall depth.
