Torque Requirements

It is extremely important to apply and maintain proper wheel mounting torque on your trailer axle. Torque is a measure of the amount of tightening applied to a fastener (nut or bolt) and is expressed as length times force. For example, a force of 90 pounds applied at the end of a wrench one foot long will yield 90 lbs./ft of torque. Torque wrenches are the best method to assure the proper amount of torque is being applied to a fastener.

Note: Wheel nuts or bolts must be applied and maintained at the proper torque levels to prevent loose wheels, broken studs, & possible dangerous separation of wheels from your axle.

Be sure to use only the fasteners matched to the cone angle of your wheel (usually 60˚ or 90˚.) The proper procedure for attaching your wheels is as follows:

1. Start all bolts or nuts by hand to prevent cross threading.
2. Tighten bolts or nuts in the following sequence.
3. The tightening of the fasteners should be done in stages. Following the recommended sequence, tighten fasteners per wheel torque requirements diagram:

4. Wheel nuts/bolts should be torqued before first road use and after each wheel removal. Check and re-torque after the first 50 miles and again at 100 miles. Check periodically there after.

PAINT & PREPARATION

Certainly one of the most important qualities of a steel trailer is the preparation it receives before painting and the quality of primer and paint.

All materials used in the production of Felling Trailers, are of the highest quality commercially available. The trailer is assembled, steel grit blasted, two coats of primer, painted with three coats of topcoat with a hardener, and fully cured in a dust free room before exiting the building.

“PPG products” are used exclusively, including the top of the line urethane primer and high solids low V.O.C. compliant urethane top coat on all Felling Trailers.

Preparation and painting processes are monitored daily by in house technicians, “PPG representatives” and Felling Trailers, Inc. in house quality control teams to insure consistency in quality. Felling Trailers come with a 3-year warranty on the paint.
