Florida scores most runs in CWS history

Jordan Mendoza
USA TODAY

It might have been too obvious the Florida baseball team wasn't ready to watch LSU win the College World Series.

After a thrilling extra-innings victory in Game 1 of the finals, LSU was one win away from capturing its seventh national championship, needing a win Sunday in Game 2 of the best-of-three series. The Tigers appeared to be headed toward that win after scoring first and jumping to a 3-1 lead after the second inning.

But the Gators chomped LSU, and then some.

Florida scored six runs in the third inning to take its first lead and the offense exploded for the remainder of the game, as the Gators cruised to a 24-4 win, the most runs scored in a game in men's CWS history.

Breaking down the record

Aside from designated hitter Luke Heyman, every Gator starter recorded at least two hits, led by center fielder Wyatt Langford, a presumed top 10 pick in the 2023 MLB draft. Langford went 5-for-5 with one walk, six RBI and a home run, which at 449 feet was the second-longest homer in CWS history at Charles Schwab Field Omaha.

First baseman Jac Caglianone and right fielder Ty Evans each had five RBI.

The Gators scored their 24 runs on 23 hits, 19 of which were earned runs, and scored in every inning but the first and fifth.

Florida scored 23 unanswered runs from the third through the ninth innings.

Each of the six LSU pitchers gave up at least two runs.

The Gators and Tigers were scheduled to meet at Monday evening in a winner-take-all championship game.

Most runs in CWS history

Florida's outburst Sunday broke a record that stood for nearly 40 years, as the previous game high was 23 runs. Here are the most runs scored in CWS baseball history:

- Florida: 24 vs. LSU, June 25, 2023
- Notre Dame: 23 vs. Northern Colorado, June 9, 1957
- Arizona State: 23 vs. Oklahoma State, June 5, 1984
- Southern Cal: 21 vs. Arizona State, June 6, 1998
- Miami (Florida): 21 vs. Tennessee, June 9, 2001
- Arizona: 20 vs. Northern Colorado, June 13, 1955
- Cal State Fullerton: 20 vs. LSU, June 5, 1994

Reynolds, Michael B. Jordan buy F1 stake

Victoria Hernandez
USA TODAY

Ryan Reynolds and Rob McElhenney have made a splash in the sports world through their ownership of the Wrexham AFC soccer team and are now ready to take on a Formula 1 team with fellow actor Michael B. Jordan.

Alpine Racing's parent company Renault Group announced on Monday that Reynolds and McElhenney, through Maximum Effort Investments, are part of an ownership group that purchased a 24% stake in the team for $218.4 million.

Reynolds and McElhenney took over Wrexham in 2020 through a $2.5 million deal and were the subject of the popular docuseries "Welcome to Wrexham." The Welsh club won the National League championship in April to earn enough points for a promotion to the English Football League for the first time in 15 years.

Jordan joins a predominately white sport that has sought to combat racism and create more opportunities for minorities.

Mercedes driver Lewis Hamilton is the only Black driver on the grid.

The "Creed III" star and director has been vocal about his desire to promote diversity in the film industry and launched the #ChangeHollywood initiative in 2020, among other projects.

"This road map is just the beginning of the journey to racial justice. We are all accomplices in the fight to transform Hollywood, and we invite content creators and industry leaders to join us in working together to #ChangeHollywood," Jordan said at the time. "We look forward to including a variety of voices in doing what we do best: telling authentic stories, bringing people together, partnering with influential artists, and changing the rules of the game."

In December, he purchased a minority stake in Premier League soccer club Bournemouth.

Between all members of the group investing in Alpine, including Otro Capital and RedBird Capital Partners, there is experience working with the Dallas Cowboys and Fenway Sports Group.

"This partnership will accelerate Alpine F1 development by diversifying revenue drivers and increasing brand value," Luca de Meo, CEO of Renault Group, said in a statement.

"Maximum Effort Investments focuses on unlocking value through the power of storytelling, and we believe there is tremendous untapped potential in Alpine Racing," James Toney, co-founder of Reynolds' Maximum Effort Investments, added. "We are eager to help shine a light on this incredible team."

The team is currently fifth in the constructors standings with 44 points after finishing fourth last season.

Esteban Ocon and Pierre Gasly are ninth and 10th in the drivers standings with 29 and 15 points, respectively.

Last month, Ocon finished third at the storied Monaco Grand Prix for the third podium finish of his career.

Pullouts force cancellation of charity golf event

Anthony Gharib
USA TODAY

Buffalo Bills safety Jordan Poyer is canceling his annual golf charity event at the Blue Monster at Trump National in Doral, Florida, next month, he announced on his Instagram. Poyer cited that the event had to be rescheduled until next year because teams and sponsors pulled out of the event due to its location.

He initially shared his excitement for the tournament, being held at one of his favorite courses, before explaining why he had to cancel it.

"Unfortunately, there have been a numerous amount of teams up north that have pulled out of the tournament. Not just out of the tournament but also wrote e-mails to a big sponsor that was going to help sponsor my tournament," Poyer said Saturday on Instagram. "And that company now, it's unfortunate that they have pulled out and decided that they don't want to take part in my tournament, in which they took part in last year, because of where it's at, the Trump National in Doral."

The event was set to benefit the ECMC Foundation and Poyer described ECMC as a major sponsor. He explained that he had worked with the group for over a year now, but it decided to pull away from the event.

According to its website, ECMC "is a nationally-focused foundation working to improve higher education for career success among underserved populations through evidence-based innovation."

An ECMC spokesperson told the Buffalo News that the foundation was only a beneficiary and not a sponsor. Susan Gonzalez, the ECMC Foundation executive director, confirmed they were just a beneficiary and told the Buffalo News in a statement: "We have had an excellent partnership with Jordan and we respect his decision to cancel his tournament."

Poyer did not make clear how many teams and people dropped out. He did express his disappointment that groups were unable to put politics aside to benefit the cause of his event.

"I hoped we could kind of get past that and I thought that we did. It seems that we haven't and it seems that this is, even just the way America is right now. It seems like our egos kind of get in the way of being a good human being," he said on Instagram. "And that's sharing love, sharing conversations, sharing laughter with others that may not believe in the same things that you do."
