COLLEGE FOOTBALL WEEK 8 QUARTERBACK RANKINGS

Nix surges but Hooker, Stroud still lead

Paul Myerberg
USA TODAY

After a roller-coaster ride through three seasons at Auburn, Bo Nix has blossomed since transferring to No. 8 Oregon, which is suddenly back in the College Football Playoff conversation after bouncing back from an ugly loss to No. 1 Georgia with six wins in a row.

Nix completed 78.6% of his throws for 286 yards and five touchdowns in Saturday's 45-30 win against No. 15 UCLA, making him the second quarterback in program history with two games with five TD passes in the same season.

Worse yet from Auburn's perspective, Nix's totals over the weekend alone match the Tigers' output from the entire season. Auburn has thrown five TDs in 197 attempts as a team with 10 picks.

Meanwhile, Nix has just one interception in his past six games while playing himself into the Heisman Trophy conversation. While there are currently two clear favorites for the award in Hendon Hooker and C.J. Stroud, Nix has several opportunities the rest of the way — the most notable are Washington on Nov. 12 and Utah on Nov. 19 — to close the gap on those front-runners.

And more important, Nix has sparked the Ducks' in-season resurgence from the depths of that 46-point loss to the Bulldogs. Thanks in large part to his play, Oregon is atop the Pac-12 and a legitimate playoff threat.

He makes the cut for this week's top quarterbacks in the Bowl Subdivision, but Hooker and Stroud still lead.

1. Hendon Hooker, Tennessee (1)

Hooker played about a half in a rout of Tennessee-Martin and did his thing: 18 completions in 24 throws for 276 yards and three touchdowns without an interception. With Hooker under center, the Volunteers set a program record with 52 points in the first half and are firing on all cylinders heading into crucial pairings with No. 17 Kentucky and Georgia.

2. C.J. Stroud, Ohio State (2)

Iowa's defense held Stroud and the No. 2 Buckeyes largely in check for all of the first half and the first play of the second. But Stroud took over after tossing a pick on that opening snap of the third quarter, tossing four TDs down the stretch and finishing with 286 yards as Ohio State handed the Hawkeyes the program's most lopsided loss since Kirk Ferentz's first season in 1999.

3. Bryce Young, Alabama (3)

Young had no help from the running game whatsoever in No. 6 Alabama's matchup with Mississippi State, leaving him again to shoulder the offensive load in a key SEC matchup. At least he had help on defense, unlike in this month's loss to the Volunteers. Young hit on 21 of 35 throws for 249 yards and two touchdowns.

4. Max Duggan, TCU (4)

Duggan continues to put up All-American numbers as No. 7 TCU continues a wildly unexpected climb into the playoff mix. He also has a flair for the dramatic: Duggan has piloted the Horned Frogs to back-to-back comeback wins against ranked Big 12 competion. In the latest, his 280 yards and three scores on 10.8 yards per attempt helped TCU overcome a 28-10 deficit to beat No. 22 Kansas State 38-28.

5. Bo Nix, Oregon (NR)

Nix averaged 4.7 yards per attempt with two interceptions in the opener. In the six games since, he's thrown for 1,636 yards, averaged 9.2 yards per throw and completed 74.6% of his attempts with 17 touchdowns and just one pick.

6. Caleb Williams, Southern Cal (5)

Williams could move back ahead of Nix among Pac-12 quarterbacks with strong games against some of the weakest pass defenses in the Power Five. This weekend's opponent, Arizona, has allowed 14 touchdowns against two interceptions and ranks fourth from the bottom among Power Five in giving up 8.3 yards per pass attempt. After that, Colorado ranks 102nd nationally in giving up 15 passing scores despite facing just 200 attempts, more than just eight teams in the Power Five.

7. Sam Hartman, Wake Forest (7)

You can set your watch to Hartman's methodical dismantling of ACC defenses. So far this season, he's tossed six touchdowns against No. 5 Clemson, two against Florida State and then five in Saturday's romp against Boston College. Despite missing the season opener and making just 193 attempts, tied for 73rd in the Football Bowl Subdivision, Hartman ranks fifth nationally with 21 scores.

8. Michael Penix Jr., Washington (NR)

Penix has rebounded from a two-game lull against UCLA and Arizona State with two terrific starts against Arizona and Cal. Against the Wildcats on Oct. 15, the Indiana transfer threw for a career-high 516 yards and four TDs. He added another 374 yards and two scores while completing 70.6% of his throws in Saturday's 28-21 win at California. He has gone for at least 300 yards in every appearance and leads the FBS in averaging 366.8 passing yards per game.

9. Drake Maye, North Carolina (NR)

At best, Maye has been one of the top players in the country. (And it's not too hard to make that case.) At worst, his performance as a freshman paints Maye as one of the rising stars in the country regardless of position. The numbers speak for themselves: Maye ranks 12th nationally in completion percentage (70.1%), fifth in yards per attempt (9.9), second in TDs (24) and eighth in yards (2,283) as the No. 21 Tar Heels pull away in the ACC Coastal.

10. Spencer Sanders, Oklahoma State (NR)

It can be feast or famine for Sanders, who completed under 50% of his attempts in games against Texas Tech and TCU but rebounded with 393 passing yards and two TDs as the Cowboys came back to beat Texas 41-34. He leads the Big 12 with 2,030 passing yards and has added 352 rushing yards and eight TDs on 4.4 yards per carry.

No US-born Black players expected in World Series

Ben Walker
Associated Press

Looking around Memorial Stadium before Game 1 of the 1983 World Series, Philadelphia Phillies star Gary Matthews saw a lot of Black talent.

Joe Morgan. Eddie Murray. Garry Maddox. Ken Singleton. Al Bumbry. Disco Dan Ford. And plenty more that night in Baltimore.

"There were quite a few of us," Matthews recalled.

When fans watch the Houston Astros and Phillies line up to begin the Fall Classic, it will be a much different picture. To be sure, Houston's Jose Altuve and Philadelphia's Jean Segura are among scores of Latin players helping keep big league rosters diverse.

But for the first time since 1950, shortly after Jackie Robinson broke the Major League Baseball color barrier, there are projected to be no U.S.-born Black players in this World Series.

Zero. "That is eye opening," Negro Leagues Baseball Museum President Bob Kendrick said. "It is somewhat startling that two cities that have high African American populations, there's not a single Black player. It lets us know there's obviously a lot of work to be done to create opportunities for Black kids to pursue their dream at the highest level."

The Phillies celebrate after winning the NL championship series in Game 5 against the Padres. MATT ROURKE/AP

Robinson debuted in 1947 with the Brooklyn Dodgers and played in the World Series that year. Since then, the 1950 matchup between the New York Yankees and Phillies has been the only World Series without a Black player.

Houston and Philadelphia will announce their 26-man rosters several hours before Game 1 on Friday at Minute Maid Park, where Dusty Baker, a Black outfielder for the 1981 champion Los Angeles Dodgers, manages the Astros.

Starting in 1954 when Willie Mays and the New York Giants played against Larry Doby and Cleveland, every single team to reach the World Series had at least one U.S.-born Black player until the 2005 Astros did not.

During that half-century, Black greats such as Hank Aaron, Barry Bonds, Lou Brock, Bob Gibson, Rickey Henderson and Frank Robinson commanded the October stage. In 1979, Willie Stargell and Dave Parker were among 10 Black players on the "We Are Family" Pittsburgh Pirates champions.

For much of that time, baseball was clearly the dominant game in the USA, the national pastime. As basketball and football increased in popularity, baseball became more expensive with an emphasis on travel teams and elite showcases. "Kids started shifting to other sports," Matthews said.

One of Matthews' sons, Gary Jr., was an All-Star outfielder. Another son works in the commissioner's office with diversity programs.

By 2020, when the Dodgers beat the Tampa Bay Rays, Los Angeles star Mookie Betts was the only Black player in the World Series. At the All-Star Game this summer at Dodger Stadium, Betts wore a T-shirt with the message: "We need more Black people at the stadium."

But on the field this weekend, a World Series shutout.

The Phillies had no Black players on their opening roster this year for the first time since 1959. Houston lost in the World Series last year with Michael Brantley, a Black outfielder, on the roster. He is out for the season because of a shoulder injury. Relief pitcher Josh James is Black and on the 40-man roster but had arm surgery in early October.
